Infusion Providers Alliance endorses the "Protecting Patient Access to Cancer and Complex Therapies Act of 2023"

Washington, DC. The Infusion Providers Alliance -- representing nearly 1,000 non-hospital based infusion and injection facilities that provide biologic medications for patients with complex chronic health conditions such as rheumatoid arthritis, multiple sclerosis and Crohn's Disease -- heartily endorses the "Protecting Patient Access to Cancer and Complex Therapies Act of 2023" by Senator John Barrasso (S. 2764) and Representative Mike Burgess (H.R. 5391).

"We commend Senator Barrasso and Representative Burgess for introducing this critical legislation, which is a top priority for the IPA due to the massive cuts to healthcare providers that could result when price negotiations commence on Part B drugs. This bill is cost-neutral, preserves patient access, keeps cost effective infusion providers whole, and stops the drive to the more expensive hospital setting, where Medicare pays twice as much for drug administration," said IPA President Doug Ghertner.
